

BPA WORLDWIDE

AGENCY/MARKETER SUPPORT SERVICES

As a marketer, you know that BPA Worldwide provides independent, third-party audits of publishers' audiences — print, digital and face-to-face — that are recognized around the world. But did you know that we offer a variety of useful tools and services — at no cost — to help make the media evaluation, planning and buying process as effective and efficient as possible.

We have created this brochure so you, the marketing professional, can learn about and utilize the services available from BPA that best meet your needs.

We also encourage you to pass these services on to your non-audited publishing partners and encourage them to explore BPA membership and better understand the value of audited media and the transparency it can bring to the media buying process.

Reports Library

Media buyers and marketers have free access to all BPA audience reports 24/7. The Reports Library contains information on brands' full audience data. You can search for reports by Country, Media Type, Market Category, Title, Occupation or Industry, Business or Market keywords. Registration/log-in required to access.

How to Read the BPA Brand Report

Not sure where to get started with the BPA Brand Report? Our "How to Read the BPA Brand Report" is a comprehensive guide that walks you through the report table by table, explaining the significance and value of the various data sets.

Inside the Brand Report Video Series

These short one-minute videos detail the purpose of each audience data table found on the BPA Brand Report, including Executive Summary, Paragraph 3a (title & business), and the definition of qualified recipients.

BPA Media Exchange (Private Marketplace)

The BPA Media Exchange is a suite of digital solutions that gives agencies and marketers access to unique, high-quality, audited audiences and brand-safe B2B inventory that is not available on any other exchange. All media brands are vetted for compliance with the highest industry standards for brand-safety, traffic quality and editorial integrity so buyers can transact with confidence and insight.

Comprised of 18 industry verticals from "advertising" to "travel", media buyers may target specific commercial audiences or professional disciplines through their demand-side platforms.

The Media Exchange platform supports private marketplace deals across a package of websites or reserved inventory guarantees through programmatic-direct programs between marketers and publishers.

Publisher Reporting Innovations

Comprehensive audience engagement metrics compliment legacy circulation data and BPA’s media members know it. That’s why they continue to develop unique and innovative methods to present audience engagement to you the agency or marketer. The Publisher Reporting Innovations page, found in the RESOURCES section of the BPA website (bpaww.com), showcases those non-traditional channels to help diversity your media spend.

Remember: If the data can be audited, publishers can report it! If you’re not seeing the audience metrics you’re looking for, ask your publishing partner to start reporting it on their next BPA Brand Report.

Brand Compare Tool

BPA’s Brand Compare tool lets you compare two or more BPA-audited titles and analyze top-line metrics to ensure a more efficient and timely media buy. You can export the data into Excel for convenience in creating plans, charts, or presentations.

As an extension of the BPA Reports Library, all business and consumer media members reporting audience data are automatically included in the Brand Compare tool. Data presented includes: Total Average Circulation; Paid/Non-Paid; Request/Non-Request Circ.; 1- 2- and 3-Year Qualified Circ.; Market Served and Occupation; and Unique Browsers (If applicable). All registered users to the BPA website can access the tool free of charge. Registration/log-in required to access.

Audited Site Traffic

BPA’s Audited Site Traffic tool lets you view and compare web traffic data from BPA-audited sites. Top-line data includes Unique Users, Page Views, Sessions and Average Session Duration. As with the Brand Compare tool, export the data to Excel for quick and easy analysis. Registration/log-in required to access.

Statement Alerts

Be the first to know when a new report is available or there is a change in a member's status. The Email Alerts tool, found in the User Tools section of the BPA website (bpaww.com), is a convenient way to receive and track changes or updates for an audited media brand, including applications for BPA membership, resignations, publication cessation or changes to report status. Registration/log-in required to access.

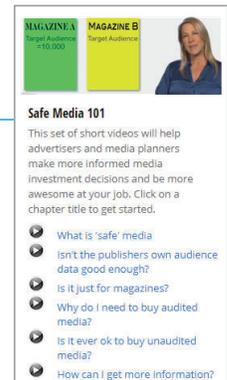

Onsite or Online Training

BPA offers free face-to-face and online instruction to agencies and marketing for using our online data and analytic tools. Topics covered include how to access free web-based tools, understanding the Brand Report, and making valid audience data comparisons. If you have additional ideas for training, we are more than happy to oblige.

- What is 'safe' media
- Isn't the publishers own audience data good enough?
- Is it just for magazines?
- Why do I need to buy audited media?
- Is it ever ok to buy unaudited media?
- How can I get more information?

Business/Consumer TRAC (Trend Report About Circulation)

The BPA Business and Consumer TRAC (Trend Report About Circulation), consisting of BPA media members' top-line audience data from the most recent brand reports, is posted bi-annually to the BPA website and also distributed to agencies and advertisers. It's a great way to see top-line audience data, including rate base, subscriptions, single-copy sales, and sponsored copies.
